– American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC)
– American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE)
– International Association for Continuing Education (IACET)

“…This environment of care education session was by far the most beneficial I’ve attended. As a former medical facilities engineering manager and now coordinator for Medcon Alliance Group’s regional healthcare education, I can say that the presenters exceeded my expectations. They made those attending feel engaged. I knew what the audience was going to want to hear; the JCR staff listened and exceeded even what I had envisioned. This is exactly what I was looking for as we kicked off our first event in our education series.”

“Joint Commission Resources faculty provided a clear presentation of the standards, and when asked, offered well-defined interpretations of the standards from the Joint Commission point of view. The expert faculty answered our questions on the spot with clarity. We found their real-world examples from other organizations extremely helpful. To hear current stories from the field is tremendously interesting and insightful; this type of education assists us with our compliance preparations. Intermountain staff truly benefitted from both the didactic content and the informal exchange of information.”

Pat Silvestri, VP- Facilities, Plant Operations & Construction Prime Healthcare Services

“The 2-day program on Environment of Care and Life Safety Code chapter reviews was extremely valuable to our organization. It was a very well designed and effective training program that was excellently supported and delivered by the skillful speakers. The speakers were always eager to answer questions. This interactive training program proved more informative than the ‘usual’ teaching modes. Our engineers left the program energized and educated. Our organization will continue to have such educational sessions in the future.”
